

UMBC and Aether Systems, Inc. invite you to join faculty researchers, industry scientists, and the UMBC community to hear exciting new developments in the field of mobile and wireless systems. Come and experience thought provoking dialogue with some of the most prominent academic and industry researchers in the field. The lectures will cover various topics, from mobile information access constraints to future agentization of large-scale human organizations.

The Aether Systems Distinguished Lecture Series in Mobile and Wireless Systems was created through the generosity of Aether Systems, Inc. The lectures are complimentary and open to the public.
